Oshkosh is among 100 global organizations honored with the annual CIO 100 Award, where nominees were measured on their ability to deliver business value by creating competitive advantage, optimizing business processes, enabling growth or improving relationships with customers.

"Our Digital Technology team is committed to solving global business challenges – no matter the scope," said John Pfeifer, Oshkosh Corporation president and chief executive officer. "We are steadfast in our pursuit of innovation, and digital technology is at the heart of the advancements moving the world forward."

"Receiving this award for the fifth consecutive year demonstrates our Digital Technology team's ongoing commitment to our customers through the delivery of superior service and solutions," said Anupam Khare, Oshkosh Corporation senior vice president and chief information officer. "We are honored to receive this award once again."

"This year's class of award winners have distinguished themselves with many groundbreaking projects using AI, quantum computing, facial recognition, analytics and more," said Anne McCrory, group vice president, customer experience and operations, events, at Foundry and the chair of the 2023 CIO awards programs. "Their innovations improve customer experiences, track sustainability and reduce risk and have novel applications across industries, from pharma and health care to manufacturing, retail, software and more. We look forward to highlighting their great accomplishments at the CIO 100 Symposium & Awards in August."

In addition to receiving the CIO 100 Award, Oshkosh recently has been named among Computerworld's Best Places to Work in IT and received the inaugural Forrester's Technology Strategy Impact Award.

Forward Looking Statements

This news release contains statements that the Company believes to be "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. All statements other than statements of historical fact, including, without limitation, statements regarding the Company's future financial position, business strategy, targets, projected sales, costs, earnings, capital expenditures, debt levels and cash flows, and plans and objectives of management for future operations, are forward-looking statements. When used in this news release, words such as "may," "will," "expect," "intend," "estimate," "anticipate," "believe," "should," "project" or "plan" or the negative thereof or variations thereon or similar terminology are generally intended to identify forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and are subject to risks, uncertainties, assumptions, and other factors, some of which are beyond the Company's control, which could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. These factors include the extent of supply chain and logistics disruptions; the Company's ability to increase prices or impose surcharges to raise margins or to offset higher input costs, including increased raw material, labor, freight and overhead costs; the impact of any U.S. Department of Defense solicitation for competition for future contracts to produce military vehicles; risks associated with international operations and sales, including compliance with the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act; the Company's ability to comply with complex laws and regulations applicable to U.S. government contractors; cybersecurity risks and costs of defending against, mitigating and responding to data security threats and breaches impacting the Company; and risks related to the Company's ability to successfully execute on its strategic road map and meet its long-term financial goals. Additional information concerning these and other factors is contained in the Company's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. All forward-looking statements speak only as of the date of this news release. The Company assumes no obligation, and disclaims any obligation, to update information contained in this news release. Investors should be aware that the Company may not update such information until the Company's next quarterly earnings conference call, if at all.
