“On behalf of our Oshkosh Corporation Family, we are honored to have an amazing leader in

Wilson. He makes a difference in our company, our communities, and for our team members by focusing on growing our People First culture. We are especially proud of this award because it's based on feedback from our current team members and former team members,” said Robert H. Sims, Oshkosh Corporation Chief Human Resources Officer. “Thanks to Wilson's vision and leadership, all of our businesses are positioned for future success as we continue to strengthen our People First culture each day.”

“Winning a Glassdoor Top CEO award is a true acknowledgement of exceptional leadership, as it reflects the opinions of the employees who work with a chief executive every day. I congratulate all of this year's winners on this significant achievement,” said Robert Hohman, Glassdoor co-founder and CEO. “It can be a real recruiting advantage to have a top-rated CEO at the helm of a company who has strong support from his or her employees. The best CEOs are inspiring, trustworthy, innovative and can be great motivators for people to bring their best selves to work.”

When team members submit reviews about their company on Glassdoor, they are asked to rate various factors about their employment experience, including their overall satisfaction and other workplace attributes like senior management. As part of these ratings, employees are also asked to rate whether they approve, disapprove or are neutral about the job their CEO is doing. Among the 770,000 companies reviewed on Glassdoor, the average CEO approval rating is 69%; and Jones has a rating of 93%.

Oshkosh Corporation's Wilson Jones was the only leader headquartered in Wisconsin to reach the top 100. In addition to this award, Oshkosh Corporation was also named a Glassdoor 2018 Best Place to Work, one of the World's Most Ethical Companies and a Military Friendly Employer.
